

Index: Everything I Know About Paddling

(click on live links to jump to topic)

Advice

- Metaphor. Kayaking may become a metaphor for many other things, possibly everything. See Religion.
- Regarding water. See Falling over.

Alias, author's.

- Discipline, Mistress of. Her students' name for their coach.
- Sleepy. Her name in the racing novitiate. See Technique, falling over.

Avatar. River otter (Lontra canadensis). Dolphin (Delphinidae).

Bascom, Willard. Authored the saltwater bible: Waves and beaches: The dynamics of the ocean surface (Anchor; 1979)

Biolooming. Lurking in boats on dark Indian summer nights watching the starry sparkle of dancing underwater dinoflagellates.

BKD. A self-defeating Bad Kayaker Decision. Example: the predictable outcome of one foot planted in the boat, the other foot on the dock.

Boat.

- Defined. A magic carpet that floats on water and is powered by a double blade.
- Free. In bush behind author's house: one very old delaminating whitewater boat.
- Ownership. The first is just the beginning.<sup>1</sup>

Boater<sup>2</sup>. "Kayaker" is a person who kayaks; "paddler" is a person engaged in paddling; "boater" is a member of a tribe. "Old boater" is a weather-beaten survivor of multiple BKDs.

Boating. See Life.

Boats in possession of author.

- At the moment. Seven surfskis, six ICF-regulation flatwater racing boats, one sea kayak, one surf kayak, two whitewater kayaks, one ICF double, one double surfski, one double downriver racing boat. Free tours daily.

---

<sup>1</sup> Nearly a million California households own nonmotorized boats, averaging 1.75 boats per household. Slightly more than 30% are various types of kayaks, with racing kayaks an infinitesimal minority. Non-Motorized Boating in California (California Department of Boating and Waterways & The NewPoint Group, March 2009)

<sup>2</sup> Nearly 8 million Americans kayaked in 2009, but nearly half of these paddled three times or less that year (A Special Report on Paddlesports, Outdoor Industry Association, 2009). The author paddles approximately three times weekly, year round.